The train journey begins at the base of Corcovado Mountain, located in the Cosme Velho neighborhood of Rio de Janeiro. The train ascends through the lush Tijuca Forest National Park, which surrounds Corcovado Mountain. The journey offers beautiful views of the forest, with glimpses of exotic flora and fauna along the way. After a roughly 20-minute ride, the train reaches the summit of Corcovado Mountain. The Christ the Redeemer statue stands at 98 feet tall and overlooks the city of Rio de Janeiro, offering breathtaking panoramic views of the coastline, cityscape, and surrounding mountains. The 360-degree views encompass landmarks such as Sugarloaf Mountain, Copacabana Beach, Ipanema Beach, and Guanabara Bay, making it an unforgettable experience for photography and sightseeing.

Assador isn't just a meal, it's a carnivorous carnival where fire-kissed skewers waltz to your appetite! Picture yourself enveloped in a vibrant dining hall, the air sizzling with the aroma of char-grilled perfection and abuzz with lively chatter. Friendly servers guide you through an endless parade of skewers, each one a tempting ode to Brazilian grilling tradition.

SUGAR LOAF MOUNTAIN

Visiting Sugarloaf Mountain (Pão de Açúcar) in Rio de Janeiro is an iconic experience that offers stunning views of the city, beaches, and surrounding natural beauty. The visit begins with a two-stage cable car ride. The first leg takes you to Morro da Urca, a smaller hill with its own attractions and beautiful views. ABOUT BANQUE POSTALE DU CONGO

Created in March 2012, Banque Postale du Congo (BPC) is the combined result of the will and determination of the Congolese government to erect a local bank that would be close to the population. With its share capital held at 80% by the Minister of finance and 20% by post office, BPC had received the roadmap to smooth the path of financial inclusion within the country.

It was not until 2019, when COVID-19 pandemic had reached its climax that factoring was designed at BPC to be the solution that would support the growth of entrepreneurs, particularly SMEs, who were affected by the aftermath of the coronavirus. The challenge has been conquered; Banque Postale du Congo is now acknowledged as the bank close to the population, not just due to its extensive network of branches (34 branches scattered across the country) but also for its undisputed leadership in factoring within the Central African region.
